

Lookout

AT LARGE

NewsLetter
2015

November

Abbotsford Mayor Henry Braun speaks at the winter shelter announcement last week.

Bringing people in from the cold

A 40-bed winter shelter in Abbotsford will save lives when it opens just before Christmas. The shelter, to be operated by the Lookout Society, will be a relief to the Abbotsford's homeless currently camping around the city.

Read More

Why Lookout thinks regionally

If the Lower Mainland's homeless population is mobile, moving from one community to another, it makes sense for the Lookout Society to offer its services across the region.

Read More

Festival shines light on homelessness

The Dunderave Festival of Lights is back and shining a light on homelessness on the North Shore.

Read More

www.lockoutsociety.ca

429 Alexander St., Vancouver